Example of a good paragraph, with coverage from a Trauma Informed Care (TIC) resource

       I have a personal interest in the field of Trauma Informed Care (TIC), part of which involves helping children express their stories as a part of dealing with the trauma and give them back a sense of control over the situation that has occurred(Anderson & Cook, 2015). I am curious about what digital tools exist to help traumatized children share their stories. Anderson and Cook state that "Digital storytelling allows for gradual exposure to one's life traumatic experiences through the use of storyboards".(2015) My hope is that if enough research demonstrates the efficacy of this approach, that more agencies will adapt it. However, what is the learning curve associated with its implementation?
